MOSLEY TO STAY IN OFFICE UNTIL OUSTER DECREE BECOMES FINAL

Sheriff Likely to Seek Supreme Court Rehearing - G. O. P. Committee May Suggest Successor.

Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley of St. Louis county, whose ouster from office was ordered by the Missouri Supreme Court yesterday, will continue to per form the duties of sheriff until the order becomes final, his attorney said today.

Herbert W. Ziercher, of Claythereoff w. Ziecher.

ton, indicated that a motion for a rehearing would be filed-with the Supreme Court within the 5 days allotted for such action. The filing would delay final ouster until the court passes on the motion. Ziercher said there would be consultations with Mosley's other lawyers, Walter Wehrle and Hyman G. Stein, before it is definitely decided to seek a rehearing.

Mosley was in his office in the county courthouse today. He refused to comment on the Supreme Court's action.

Meanwhile, the County Republican Central Committee is expected to suggest candidates to fill Mosley's unexpired term, which continues until next Dec. 31, in the event the ouster order becomes final.

"Parker refused to discuss the possible effect of the ouster on county politics, but other Republican sources pointed out that removal of Mosley as a "target" for the Democrats might help the Republican cause.

A Republican spokesman observed that "all the Democrats would have been running against Mosley; now they will not have that opportunity next not have that opportunity next November."

Ralph L. Devereaux, chairman of the County Democratic Central Committee, did not share the Republican view. "The Supreme Court's action against Sheriff Mosley is definitely in our favor," Devereaux declared. "That and the reassessment muddle will be the big issues in the coming county campaign."

Supervisor Luman F. Mat Supervisor Luman F. Mat-thews said today he was giv-ing no thought to appointment of an interim sheriff pending final action on the ouster. Mat-thews added that he will act in accordance with charter pro-visions when the vacancy oc-

Commissioner Upheld.

The Supreme Court upheld the findings of Special Commissioner William H. Becker of Columbia, who heard testimony in the Attorney General's ouster suit against the sheriff in 1954. Becker found Mosley guilty on two charges, permitting carnival gambling and seeking to collect a reward. The commissioner recommended that Mosley be-reprimanded, fined $500 and ordered to pay half the costs of the ouster proceedings.

In directing that Mosley be ousted, the court went far beyond the commissioner's recommendation. The court agreed with Becker in finding the sheriff to guilty on eight other charges and in directing that the respondent bear half the cost of the proceedings.

G. O. P. Members in Farm States Think 9-Point Plan Won't Boost Prices Before November Election.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)
—Some midwestern Republicans expressed dissatisfaction with President Eisenhower's farm program today while Democrats generally asserted they retained political initiative on the issue.

Some 'parts of Mr. Eisenhower's 9-point plan drew praise from Congress members in both parties. One such portion was the soil bank plan designed to reduce plantings and cut down on the huge, price-depressing surpluses of some commodities. Democrats contended this plan had been lifted from their own proposals of recent years.

Scott, presiding over the inquiry, said such a charge was "a defense of those who have something to hide and who are afraid for the people to know what the real facts are." Testimony Begun.

Testimony Begun.
The subcommittee heard testimony that some early assays of the Oregon tand showed it. John A. McDaniel, a Mobile (Ala.) metallurgist, said tests made in 1949 indicated the land subsequently leased to a private mining concern had combined gold and silver deposits valued at 90 cents to $2.90 a ton.

Monroney heads a Senate commerce-aviation subcommittee inquiring into Lee's ouster. He contends that "ground-minded" officials, including Weeks, have been cutting back funds needed for aviation traffic control to the detriment of air transportation and that Lee's ouster was a part of this pattern.

Lee testified Rothschild also complained about some of the Administrator's public speeches calling for expansion of radar facilities to aid plane navigation, although they had been cleared with the Department of Commerce.

Few of the aldermen want to be caught napping, and end up voting against the bill if it actually has sufficient support for passage. If they see that the bill has a good chance of getting through, they want to be on the winning side and avoid the political consequences of having gone on record against it.

The caucus, if held, would have to be called either by Board President Donald Gund, who favors passage of the bill, or Majority Leader James W. Noonan, who has not taken a public stand on the issue recently but is not regarded as too friendly to the measure.

Believes His Proposal Should Be Tied In With Road Construction Bill.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—A congressional study of mass transportation problems, of major American cities was proposed yesterday by Representative Frank M. Karsten (Dem.). St. Louis, in a resolution introduced in the House.

Karsten said the resolution was prompted by the transit situation in St. Louis and hy responses to questionnaires he sent to mayors of 50 large cities.

Under the proposal, a special committee of seven House members would be appointed to study ways of improving existing methods of mass transit, the need for additional facilities and ways of solving traffic consection.

Karsten said he believed the resolution should be tied in with the Eisenhower Administration's forthcoming highway construction bill, which is expected to call for a large-scale road building program.

More than 150,000 families in the St. Louis area had incomes of less than $4000 a year in 1954, despite the fact that median income of American families has increased 35 percent in the last five years, the Social Planning Council reported today.

A study which calculated figures for St. Louis by a projection of national data estimated that 113,901 families — 46 percent of all the families living in the city—were in this low-income category. In St. Louis county, the number was placed at 38,708, or 29 per cent of the families.

Applying estimated that 90.066 road building program.

Analysts estimated that 90,066 city families, or 36 per cent of the total, and 68,945 St. Louis county families, or 52 per cent, had annual income of more than

Although almost every major American city has its own plans and surveys for improving traffic and transportation, "there has been no effort to co-ordinate them," he pointed out. A comprehensive survey is needed before Congress can vote money intelligently for the big highway construction program contemplated by the Administration, he told the Post-Dispatch.

JOHN T. FOUKE ELECTED PRESIDENT OF FUR COMPANY

John T. Fouke was elected president of the Fouke Fur Co., 1323 South Kingshighway, at a meeting of the firm's board of directors yesterday. Formerly vice president, he succeeds G. Donald Gibbins who died recently.

Also elected was Samuel E. Lortz as vice president and member of the board of directors. Other company officera and board members remaint. Fouke lives at 1 Fordyce lane, Ladue. Lortz lives at 9067 Clayton road, Ladue. Circulation of nominating petitions on behalf of State's Attorney Richard T. Carter of St. Clair county for the Democratic nomination to succeed himself began last night at a meeting of the East St. Louis Central Democratic Committee at Hotel Broadview.

There had been some speculation that Carter, now serving his second four-year term as state's attorney, might run for Illinois Attorney General.

U.S. Says Plant Officials Sub-Contractors.

Trial of two St. Louis county oncerns and their presidents, charged with defrauding the Government of approximately $12,000 on defense contracts, continued today in the court of United States District Judge to increase their costs as a con-dition of doing business with amount in increased costs for the work.

Wilson's Contractor Sales & Engineering Co. was a "dummy corporation" to all intents and purposes, Boecker told the court and jury in his statement.
Contracts Identified.
The first witness was Cecil Orear, Marshall, Mo., an investigator for the General Accounting Office, which oversees all Government contracts. Orear testified briefly yesterday and took the stand again today.
Orear identified contracts under which Production Engineering performed the Army defense work. He also identified, from a mass of documents in the courtroom, the invoices of prime and sub-contractors, and the payment vouchers issued by the Government.
On the assumption that the trial would be of several weeks' duration, Judge Moore ordered that a thirteenth juror be selected and sworn in for service in the event one of the original 12 became incapacitated.

(Reports of Stroessner's arrest were carried into Argentina by travelers, who said it apparently resulted from a rift within the Colorado party—the only legal political organization in Paraguay.

They said strict censorship had been imposed. A secret Paraguayan radio station yesterday declared Stroessner's government was doomed by a revolt of the people against elements closely connected with Opening Statement.

Following selection of a jury yesterday, Asst. United States Attorney Forrest Boecker said in an opening statement that sub-contractors doing work for Production En_ineering, in the period 1950-52, had been told to increase their costs as a condition of doing business with the prime contractor.

Boecker charged that Emerling and Wilson had instructed sub-contractors, in effect, that it would be necessary for them to "kick back roughly 10 per cent on their gross price" to Production Engineering. The latter concern then included the 10 per cent in billing the Government, Boecker said, so that the Government paid about that amount in increased costs for ount in increased costs for

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10-The Administration's version of a domestic Point IV assistance Zemo, a doctor's antiseptic, program for the nation's economically-distressed areas was introduced in Congress yesterintroduced in Congress yesterday.

The proposed legislation calls for a $50,000,000 loan fund and $1,500,000 a year in grants.

Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep.), New Jersey, who introduced the bill in the Senate, said it was designed to overcome both temporary and chronic unemployment through the co-operation of federal, state and local governments.

In the House of Representatives, the Administration's program was introduced by Representative Ivor D. Fenton (Rep.), Pennsylvania, whose district has been hard hit by unemployment in the hard coal industry.

Under the program, loans would be made to areas of substantial and persistent unemployment to help finance development projects worked out at the local level and approved by the states.

Federal participation would be limited to 25 per cent of the cost of the project. No federal funds would be advanced if the project would increase unemployment in other areas.

Other sections of the proposed bills would strengthen and expand the Federal Government's existing programs of assistance to the distressed ment's existing programs of istance to the distressed assistance to the distressed areas.

President Eisenhower had called for such a relief program in, his State of the Union message. He suggested that the main responsibility for area relief remains with states and the communities, but added that a "soundly conceived federal partnership program" could be of real help.

In line with this 'thinking. Senator Smith said that "underlying the entire program was the basic principle of helping low employment communities to help themselves."

NEW YEAR

Take a New Year - like this one. Take a new Buick - like this one.

Put them together, and what have you got?

You've got just about the snappiest time of your entire motoring career-in power and performance and prideful good feeling.

It begins when you drive away from the showroom. Heads turn to follow your brand-new Buick with its stunning sweep-ahead styling, racy contours, vivid

Next thing you notice is the silken power delivery of a big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine with the highest output of high-compression horsepower in Buick history.

But it's not till you enter the stream of traffic that you discover you're bossing the smoothest package of nimbleness on four wheels ...

Because this time Buick engineers have added a new marvel to the airplane-principled performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

It's something they call "double regeneration" - and it gives you solid new take-hold, sensational new takeoff, and exquisite new control right in your normal cruising range at only part throttle - and with new gas savings to boot.

Then, when you want an extra helping of "go" for just floor the pedal and switch the pitch for added take-off that literally wings you on your way.

But there's even more to the story than that.

There's the easy way your Buick turns and parks and handles and does what you want it to do, as though it had a private line to your thoughts.

There's the fresh and eager bounce to your step after a long day's drive-thanks to Buick's deep-oil-cushioned And there are Buick's surprisingly low prices to consider, along with the outstanding trade-in deals that Buick's volume sales permit us to make.

Come in-drive the best Buick yet-hear our offersee if you don't snap it up. Can you visit us this week?

62 Captured by French Forces — 23 Sympathetic Moslems Lose

ALGIERS, Jan. 10 (UP) — French authorities reported that 64 persons were killed in bloody clashes with nationalist rebels Sunday. The total was one of the rebels Sunday.

The total was one of the highest for a single day since the "Army of Allah" launched its campaign of disorders 14 months ago.

French forces killed 39 and captured 62 prisoners. The national liberation army killed 25.

Two persons were killed and a French foreman wounded when the rebels stormed a French factory only three miles from Constantine.

The rebels killed 23 Moslems because of their sympathies for the French. In the Constantine department, rebels burned 10 farms, two schools, two railway depots and drove off cattle.

They kidnaped 12 Moslem workers, including a family with two children and authorities feared the children may have been killed.

The French killed 18 rebels in ambushes in the Ain Abid region, 25 miles east of Constants.

The French killed 18 rebels in ambushes in the Ain Abid region, 25 miles east of Constantine. They rounded up 20 suspected accomplices in the area, seized a mule convoy loaded with weapons and tools. Nineteen rebels were killed and 43 captured in sporadic action elsewhere in the Constantine department.

In Morocco, nationalists captured four native soldiers manning the, Morocco-Algeria road outpost at Ina Oue, three miles from Taza in the Fez region. They also took the post's ammunition.

Two Frenchmen were found just outside Constantine yester-day with their throats slit and their hands tied behind their backs. They also had been shot several times.

President's Farm Proposals Viewed by Most Newspapers As Sound Approach to Problem

They Are Seen as an Extension Of Rather Than Retreat From His and Benson's Basic Policy of Opposing Rigid Sup-

OLLOWING is representative editorial comment, compiled by the Post-Dispatch, on the form by the Post-Dispatch, on the farm program presented to Congress yesterday by President Eisenhower:

Congress yesterday by President Eisenhower:

Des Moines Register—President Eisenhower:

Would be easier, cheaper—and more honest to do it with a direct congress a new package of proposed farm legislation which, if enacted, would go far to relieve the downward pressure on many farmers' incomes. It also would help promote needed adjustments in crop acreages. But it would do little or nothing about the critical price situation facing livestock producers.

The President din not succumb to the political pressure for higher price supports. Nor dic he abandon the sound principle of flexibility of supports. He recognized that the price support incentives of recent earns have been in the wrong direction.

Mr. Eisenhower put great emphasis on the problem of reducing the huge reserves of cotton and wheat. The principal aim of his proposals is to reduce the production of these crops by taking land out of production.

The Administration's soil bank proposal sounds reasonable as far as it goes. But there appear to the downer in the control of the party in power and its opposition want to do something quickly to appease agricultural discontent because the farmers as a whole have not shared in the recent economic improvement enjoyed by other groups in the population. The divergent trend is shown in the di

Nevertheless, corn belt livestock producers have grounds for being dubious about the effectiveness of this. Ultimately, there is only one thing that can be done with pasture and forage crops—feed them to livestock. And the acreage reserve program is intended to last only until the wheat and cotton surpluses are eliminated.

nave been counted upon to raise farm income and bring an end to farm surpluses. Not only have the supported prices failed to accomplish the purpose, but they have resulted in bigger production. Farmers have more than offset the smaller acreage by using increased amounts of fertilizer. Huge crops of cotton are grown with only two-thirds of the acreage formerly in use.

The question is, will the further cut in acreage, proposed by the President, bring about more intensive cultivation of the land remaining in use, with the result that crops next year, weather permitting, will be larger than ever? Surely there until the wheat and cotton surpluses are eliminated.

In another part of his message the President advocated releasing commodities from the federal stockpile at lower prices than the law now allows. He suggested that off-grade wheat be released for feeding purposes. And he promised that were lawhest growers who feed on single payments under price supports.

It is the great farming corporations, many of which collect Government cash high in the hundreds of thousands, which have brought about the revolution in mechanized farming, raised output and cut production costs, We can think of no more reason for the taxpayers to insure their income than to subsidize the cobblers on the ground that we all need shoes. protected market must be off-set by selling in a subsidized one, but so far prices in the protected market have gone up will claim the credit for what-ever is done. The danger is that in seeking to appease spokesmen for organized agri-culture, steps may be taken which will be costly to the taxand despite all of our schemes the income from the subsidized one has declined. The dilemma agricultural Monday sees it, is to bring the oser together. Farm price supports accom-panied by reduced plantings have been counted upon to

That acreage reduction has not worked in the past has been due to two factors. Initially, we limited production here, foreign planting was enlarged and created more competition for marketing abroad. the message on agriculture sent to Congress by the President yesterday, one should note that the proposals that he is now the proposals that he is now putting forward are not a sub-stitute for, but an extension and a strengthening of, the basic provisions of that earlier legis-lation, in the light of the experiences of the past two years.

lation, in the light of the experiences of the past two years.

At present, the Government faces the problem of reducing the surplus under conditions in which its hands are largely tied. In the case of crops such as cotton it can't demand further compulsory acreage reduction; it can't legally dump the surplus on the domestic market, even if it would, and it can't in good conscience dump it on the foreign market, and needless to say, to destroy it would be regarded as indefensible. The acreage reserve plan seeks to get around these difficulties by entering into agreements with farmers who would contract to reduce their acreage voluntarily below their allotments in return for incentive payments.

The President's program should be authorized by Congress and achieve the necessary and hoped for co-operation from agriculture.

Unless this trend can be reversed, the farm situation, in the President's words, will constitute "a direct threat to the well-being of all our people."

The task, then, is to direct a frontal assault on the surplus frontal assault on the surplus, without making the farmer bear a disproportionate share of the cost of a national readjustment. President Eisenhower's program constitutes constructive answers to the most pressing economic problem facing the country. His proposals are far better for the farmer and the country than a mere return to fixed parity prices which would only encourage greater sur-pluses at greater cost to the napiuses at greater cost to the na-tion in payments and in storage expense. #### Eisenhower Lifts Debate on '56 From Gossip to Objective Level

As Before Normandy Invasion and Other Vital Decisions, He Insists on 'Complete Staff Analysis.'

By JAMES RESTON

The New York Times News Service.
Copyright, 1956, by The New York Times Co.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has lifted the debate about his political future out of the realm of gossip and subjective opinion onto the higher ground of objective political analysis. After weeks of wishful thinking and oblique public pressure by his associates and public supporters, he has finally intervened to make clear that this decision will be made as a great decision of state.

This is what he did about the other great decisions of his career—the decision to postpone and then to launch the invasion of Normandy; the decision to end the Korean war; the decision to avoid intervention in the Indochina war; and the decision to defend Formosa but not to commit himself irrevocably to the defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

In all of these decisions, he has insisted on the procedures he learned as a well-trained soldier: he has insisted on what he calls "complete staff analysis."

This means that, prior to the decision, all relevant facts are carefully marshalled, all possible to the presidency of the defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

He said he was going back to work today feeling much better—much stronger—"as ready to go to work as a person could be after the physical experience the decision, all relevant facts are carefully marshalled, all possible the presidency.

This means that, prior to the decision, all relevant facts are carefully marshalled, all possible courses of action defined, and all possible consequences of each course carefully analyzed. Then, and only then, under this system, is a final decision reached.

The president did not under-take to say what his answer would be to the big question, but he did raise the big ques-tions that have to be answered prior to a final decision:

prior to a final decision:

1. What are the medical facts in the case?

2. What are the physical demands of the Presidency?

3. What would happen to the Government and the affairs of the nation if the President's endurance were not great enough to meet those demands?

4. What would be the effects on other governments in the world if the United States had to change Presidents in the middle of a four-year term?

5. Duty would clearly be an important part in this decision as in every other personal decision he had made in Government, but who should determine the path of duty, and which way should it

Finally, he outlined how he rinally, he outlined how he ould approach his answer to dese questions.

"All of the considerations that apply to such things are complicated," he said, "and it takes not only a thorough studying of each one before you are ready to talk on them, but nat-urally I will want to confer with

ON ATOMIC 'PEACE SHIP, EISENHOWER ASSERTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10
PRESIDENT EISENHOWER feels "we've jost valuable time" in starting on development of an atomic-powered "peace ship." His views were set forth in a letter made public today by Representative Tolle fs on (Rep.), Washington.

The President last year recommended building an atomic exhibit ship which he said could tour the world to dramatize his "atoms for peace" plan. But the House passed instead a bill for a nuclear-powered cargo-passenger vessel.

Tollefson, senior Republican on the House Merchant Marine Committee, wrote the President Dec. 30 suggesting Mr. Eisenhower support the merchant ship measure. Last Thursday Mr. Eisenhower in his State of the Union message again urged approval to approve an exhibit ship. In neither the message nor the letter did Mr. Eisenhower say specifically whether he would accept the merchant ship as substantially carrying out his plan.

cussed the question casually, he had not really gone into it in great detail with his advisers.

Most Taxing Job.

He described the presidency as tiring on the mind and spirit—probably the most taxing job he had ever had. He frankly stated that his answer could not depend on the doctor's report alone, and observed that it was "a rather startling thing" for this government or other governments to be confronted by a sudden change in the presidency.

Finally, he outlined how he.

The chances are that the one conclusion is as premature as the other. The President said that he had the questions mar-shaled in his mind in the prop-er order, but we are probably at the beginning of the answer-ing process and not at the end.

ing process and not at the end.

The country has been debating this question longer than the President. He conceded Sunday that he did not know about the stock market reaction to his illness until six weeks later, so it is fair to deduce from this that he does not know about a great deal of the public speculation that has gone on in the last three months—particularly during the early weeks when it was widely assumed that he would retire.

What the President has done

What the President has done what the President has done is to place the question in its proper historic setting, and in so doing he has set an example of how a great question should be debated.

After reading the recent letter rom Arthur W. Stevens, president
f the Automobile Safety Associaion, I feel that I must reply.
He says the automobile has killed the way that he made this statement are could almost assume that the could almost assume that the do with the record. The car is a piece of machinery that is controlled solely by the driver behind the wheel, a fact that Mr. Stevens has apparently forgotten.

He says that the machine should be redesigned so that any of the 60,000,000 licensees could see to operate it. In one respect, a redesign-ing job is necessary but not by the car maker.

A psychiatrist is needed to do the job on the attitude of Mr. Milquetoast who turns into Mr. Bull when he gets behind the wheel; the driver who thinks that he is the best on the road only to find out in his grave that he was wrong; the driver who thinks that the car is a playtoy instead of a dangerous weapon.

Today's styling for safety is the best ever put into use, and still the accident rate rises. The position of the driver in today's car gives him a full view of the road in front of him for miles except for the five feet directly ahead of him.

The only unbalance that I know of in today's car is the driver, and the resulting clum'sy weight is the brain of the driver being in his right foot instead of in his head.

On one point we agree. It is time to get to the heart of the accident problem but it is not the problem of the car maker, but the problem of the stupidity and criminal carelessness of drivers who don't know their job. r maker. A psychiatrist is needed to do the

Up to the People of the Post Dispatel

To the Editor of the Post Dispatch:

I enjoyed reading Richard Rose's review of "The Pattern of World Conflict" by G. L. Arnold.

I agree with British Editor Arnold that American foreign aid is too little, too military, and too often given in such a mamer as to create suspicion about American motives." But there is nothing unusual about this opinion; it is held by many thinking Americans, notably Chester Bowles and William O. Douelas.

What impresses me about the re-view is Mr. Rose's sensible question: "How can Congress be brought to approve long-range intelligent plang?" and his suggestion that it is us Americans to find the answer. his election year it is to that Americans can cho representatives who will approve in creased international economic co-operation. But certainly, besides voting. Americans matters to their Congressmen.

1. The plight of the colored and blacks of the Union of South Africa.

2. The sufferings of the oppressed people of Fascist Spain.

3. The circumscribed freedom and suffering of the peoples of Kenya and Formosa and North Africa and Portugal and several Latin American countries in our own hemisphere.

Is tyranny bad only when it is on the Left? Why do we clasp tyran-ny on the Right so warmly to our bosom? Aren't we being inconsistent Wouldn't we have a sounder, more convincing case if we condemned tyranny of all stripes and degrees?

The Farm Message

The basic purpose behind President Eisenhower's message on the farm problem is constructive. He wants to curb over-production and the accumulation of surpluses. And he wants to reverse the decline in farm incomes. Democrats and Republicans will agree with him on these fundamentals.

But there will be disagreements as to the methods for achieving these ends. Many of these will be quite honest, yet in a national political campaign they are all too likely to be exploited, exaggerated and distorted. While the President has stanchly refused to throw an unpopular Secretary of Agriculture to the wolves, the Republi-cans know that they have lost ground among the farmers. And they want to recover that ground not in some indeterminate long run, but before Election Day

The Democrats, however, may be expected to fight them for every inch of it. Since scientific agriculture has sent so many farmers from the fields to the cities, the farm vote is not as important as it used to be, but it could be decisive in a close contest. So it will be strenuously so-

A Congress controlled by the Democrats will write whatever farm legislation is eventually adopted. It may accept some of the President's nine points, but it surely will try to stamp the completed work as "Made by Democrats."

Those most deeply concerned with solving one of our toughest domestic problems can only hope ne real gains will emerge from the politicking. Meanwhile, they may try to convince the vote-seekers that, fundamentally, there is neither a Republican nor a Democratic solution. A viable ogram would work under either party. Also, such a program always will be affected by ditions beyond the borders and the control of the United States.

At this stage, the problem still calls for more than a little trial and error. Yet it is significant that there is much more agreement on essentials than partisan orators generally admit. It is not insignificant that the late Senator Taft saw virtues in the Brannan plan, or that former Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace had ideas akin to the proposed "soil bank." Subsidies in one form or another are deemed necessary. And they are justifiable so long as they are not given a rigidity which delays basic reforms.

Both parties advocate some form of acreage restriction. This should be based on sound principles of conservation. It will be of scant help if farmers use machines, fertilizers, hybrid seeds and the like on fewer acres to produce more than ever. Since it is not suitable for cultivation, some of our land should be returned to grass and timber.

The real problem is to get surpluses out of the warehouses and onto the tables of the undernourished, be they at home or abroad. It is heartening that President Eisenhower has made a point of this. Our food and fiber accumulations and our capacity, even with a conservation minded agriculture, to produce more than we need ought to be a mighty instrument for preservation of peace, but we are not using it as well as we might.

The lot of the American farmer and the lot of a good many people in the world can be improved if farm legistation is approached with regard for the fundamentals. While the Eisenhower proposals vary in importance they can be the basis of such an approach. But they will be far less helpful if they are regarded only as another hurry-up formula for getting some extra dollars to the farmers before they go to the polls

Job Lost But Pension Saved

James Kutcher, who lost his legs on a World War II battlefield, is not going to lose his $329 veteran's pension over vague charges by undisclosed informants that he had made subversive remarks. A committee on waivers and forfeitures of the Veterans Administration has decided after a hearing, that the alleged evidence was insufficient. But Mr. Kutcher is still jobless. He was dis missed several weeks ago as a federal file člerk because of membership in the Socialist Workers party, an organization on the Attorney-General's subversive groups list. The matter of this dismissal may well be questioned in the light of a statement by former Senator Harry P. Cain, now chairman of the Subversive Activities Control Board. Mr. Cain urged that the Attorney-General's list be "liquidated" as a criterion for determining subversion As matters now stand, Mr. Kutcher is jobless although he is not rubber stamped as subversive and thereby deprived of his battlefield pension Why not restore him to his job so he can have the satisfaction of earning a salary? #### Significant Warning to Franco

If Francisco Franco decides to pull the reins bit tighter it may well be as a result of an officially-sponsored poll made among Madrid University students and revealing that the great majority are opposed to Spain's totalitarian rule. The report said that 80 per cent of the students declare that they have no confidence in the present Spanish government.

It is small wonder that the Spanish Institute of Public Opinion, a department of the Ministry of Information, warns "an obvious mood of disapprobation of the ruling classes is taking over the university." This warning is of special significance when taken into consideration with the fact that student opinion very frequently forecasts the future in Spanish-speaking countries.

Mr. Nehru Is Human, Too

support India's claims to Goa and Kashmir cannot be explained in "cold war" terms. As Nehru's attitude is no "victory" for the Soviet side, neither is it a defeat for us.

Where the two disputed territories are concerned Mr. Nehru is hotly partisan, as indeed are most of his people. They think Portugal ought to quit Goa and that Pakistan should give up that part of Kashmir that it occupies. So it is only natural for Nehru and Indians in general to be pleased with verbal support from outsiders-even when the outsiders are named equally happy with the same kind of talk from

But expressing pleasure with one or two points in the Russian speeches is not the same as approving everything in the Soviet propaganda bag. Just before Christmas, for example, Nehru told delegates at a closed meeting of his Congress party that he had been embarrassed by Russian charges that the Western Allies sent the Nazis against Moscow in the early days of World War II. He also is said to have been much pained by the Bulganin-Khrushchev attacks on Britain. In the dispute with Portugal over Goa and in the trouble over Kashmir the people of India are personally involved and therefore will take comfort from anyone. There is nothing unusual about that.

An Educator Tackles Football

Do all college and university presidents know what Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher has said about "the accelerated madness" of college football? It seems unlikely since surely there ought to have been by now an outpouring of support for the sition taken by the president of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Hatcher, who heads one of the largest as well as leading universities of the country, has cussed frankly the whole business of pre-season ratings of teams and players and emphasis on post-season bowl bids. Not only has he discussed it, he has done so before a large Detroit athering of Michigan alumni.

Did Michigan's president read with joy last September that his university's football team had been rated first in the hation, even before it had played its opening game? Not at all. He read that "with a sinking heart." Then he discussed newspaper headlines about the "coveted bids" to the bowl games: "Army knocks Navy out of Cotton Bowl." "Tennessee ruins Van-derbilt's bowl hopes." And so on.

To show how deeply the colleges and universi-es have allowed themselves to get in all this, Dr. Hatcher said with evident sarcasm

r. Hatcher said with evident sarcasm:

Why, we might even carry it to the ultimate conclusion. About Washington's birthday we could match the winner of the Rose Bowl against the Sugar Bowl winner—and the Cotton and Orange Bowl winners. Then some day, say at the Mardi Gras, the winners of those games—for the "world" championship. That would bring us up to spring practice, then fall practice and we could start all over again.

College and university presidents are though

College and university presidents are thought ful men, heading institutions that teach young men and women how to think. Why do they not settle themselves down to the serious busi ness of thinking this problem through? They like to work in groups and then go on from small groups to the larger ones. How about tackling football seriously on a conference basis, first conference by conference over the country and then going on from there nationally?

Sad Spectacle in Virginia

The voters of Virginia have added no lustre to their state by their vote on desegregation. By more than 2 to 1 they have directed their General Assembly to call a convention to amend the State Constitution. The purpose of the amendment will be to permit state contributions to private schools.

From this foolish and impractical move it seems likely Virginia will be saved by its very These voters do not really mean to sacrifice their public-school system, which is what they are ostensibly doing. Their intention is solely to maintain segregation of the races in public schools in defiance of a United States Supreme Court order to the contrary.

Even if this proposed act of nullification were legal, the private-school system to take over the public load does not exist. The entire ma neuver is so far short of sensible that it is hard to see how more than a quarter of a million voters accepted it. The single hopeful sign in the referendum was the large vote against proposal in northern Virginia. Perhaps these stalwart Virginians can in time win over their fellow-citizens to the American ideal of equal educational opportunities for all.

Ousted From Office

The Missouri Supreme Court has ordered Sheriff Mosley ousted from office, and most citizens who view the case with any degree of objectivity probably will agree that he got exactly what was coming to him.

In taking this step the Supreme Court went considerably beyond the recommendation of its special commissioner. The commissioner previously had found the St. Louis county sheriff guilty of demanding and receiving a $500 reward for doing his sworn duty, and of failing to suppress carnival gambling.

The commissioner merely urged the court to reprimand the sheriff, to fine him $500 and to require him to pay half the court costs. Since the court approved the latter recommendation Mr. Mosley will be out costs estimated at $9000 well as his job.

The real importance of this case to St. Louis inty is not the out-of-pocket cost to Mr. Mosley personally. It is the fact of his removal from office. A public official who solicits cash on the barrel head for doing his duty-or who fails to carry out that duty even when it is staring him in the face—has forfeited any right he might have had to his position of public trust. Even a substantial fine would have been inadequate. Removal from office clearly was indicated-not only to protect citizens subject to his jurisdiction but as an example to every other officeholder in the state.

The one happy aspect of this affair is that it long ago stimulated county citizens to strip the sheriff of his law enforcement powers and to vest them in a professional, nonpolitical police

While the new department has been the target of covert sniping by those who liked the brand of law and order Sheriff Mosley peddled, this has been more annoying than anything else County citizens are determined to keep politics out of their police department. They have had a slight taste of political enforcement and that was plenty.

Better Than Cops

J. Edgar Hoover voiced a good sentiment when Prime Minister Nehru's expressed pleasure he said, "As a career law enforcement officer, I with what the visiting Russian leaders said to abhor the word 'cop' in reference to members of our profession." Every profession has its name of dignity and its nickname of derogation.

The unworthy lawyer is a shyster or an ambu lance chaser, the unworthy physician is a quack or pill-roller. There is even a nickname for the unworthy-minister. Sinclair Lewis provided it in the novel of the same name: Elmer Gantry,

As "cop" is the term of derogation for the law enforcement officer, "copper" is the term of defiance. If these slang words went out of the language, such genuine old Americana as "Cheese it, de cops!" and "Yeah, you and who else, copper?" would go out with them. But we foresee no prospect of their total disappearance. About the best we and Mr. Hoover can expect is their disappearance, not from the language

As the standards of the law enforcement prossion are raised—and J. Edgar Hoover has done much to raise them-it will become more and more a matter of course to refer to its members as "Officer," "Captain," "Lieutenant," not only overtly but in the private thought.

Integrity, intelligence, zeal, courage, courtesy—these are the hall-marks of an honorable and admirable profession, worthy of its best name.

Europe's reaction to the trial and verdict in Summer, Miss., was swift, violent and universal. The proceedings of the trial were reported prominently and at great length in the daily newspapers. The most frequent words in the headlines were "Scandalous," (Monstrous" and "Abominable." Seldom has a trial at such distance been reported so extensively. The first reaction was astonishment that such a travial beginning should have such tragic results. Condemnation came from all sections of public opinion, all political directions, and was expressed immediately and spontaneously. These protestations were expressed in hundreds of newspaper editorials, statements by public leaders in every country of Western Europe, and by men in the street.

Ask Roy Rogers, "King of the Cowboys," and Dale Evans, "Queen of the West," a hard question like why is pain and grief and why do all things work out for the best, and they will tell you the answer is God. That was what they told Elise Miller Davis when she was living with them and touring with them and getting ready to write a book about them. That was their answer to the many questions that she asked them about their lives and the guidance they seemed to have had in their careers and the kindly acts from which they have derived their greatest consolation and satisfaction.

She had left them a month before.

The "Buckaroos" were satisfied but before the show that night a committee of very important persons came to remonstrate. Rogers heard them through. He put his arm around the shoulders of his wife. "If we can't do our religious number," he said, "we won't go on at all. Mama and I have talked it over. We'll pack our trunks this very night and head back for California."

The show went on and the Rogerses did their religious number. Roy told the kids to go to Sunday school. "Believe me, pardners," he said, "it isn't sissy to go to Sunday school. For, don't ever forget, a real cowboy needs real faith." Spotlights formed a large cross in the center of the arena. ### CHAMBER MUSIC CONCERT PLEASING String Ensemble Conducted by Albert Tipton Plays Seldom-Heard Works.

By CHARLES MENEES

The first of the season's "Music For Tonight" chamber music concerts, conducted by music concerts, conducted by Albert Tipton, was held last night at Sheldon Memorial, with a smaller than usual but highly enthusiastic audience on hand. Tipton admirably took up where he left off last spring in the offering of seldom-heard music for small instrumental ensembles of varying combinations. This time it was a string orchestra of 13 players, all but two of them from the St. Louis Symphony. The group was programmed as "Symphony Strings."

The music selected by Tipton grammed as "Symphony Strings."

The music selected by Tipton could not in total be classified as important, but all of it was interesting and none of it was beyond the reach of the players. One of the delights of the evening was a visual one—watching the fun that most of the performer's seemed to be getting from playing chamber music. With such enthusiasm, the ensemble's tonal quality, generally excellent last night, can be expected to have a more complete homogeneity of sound the longer the membership plays together.

Composers of the first three selections, believed performed for the first time in St. Louis, were the seventeenth and eightwere the seventeenth and eight-eenth century Italians, Pergo-lesi, Vivaldi and Francesco Du-rante. Three movements from Englishman Gustav Holst's "St. Paul's Stitte" were delightful to hear. Melvin Ritter, assistant concertmaster of the symphony and concertmaster of this ensemble, was soloist. His violin tones were not always the warmest, but his technical surety was always apparent. The music turned out to contain snatches of "Greensleeves" and other folk tunes. It was engagingly performed. Whatever went wrong at the final note was not enough to spoil the over-all impression.

After intermission Tipton played a short flute solo, "Night Piece" by the late American composer Arthur William Foote. His mastery of his instrument was always on display even though once more the accom-

The Methodist meeting was one of many held by college groups with religious affiliations as preliminaries to the convention of the Association of American Colleges.

Theodore A. Distler, executive director of the association, said in an interview yesterday that a rapid job turnover among college presidents has become a major problem in higher education.

Distler, who arrived for the forty-second annual meeting of the association, which opens tonight at Hotel Jefferson, said that from 60 to 70 college heads resign each year. The average tenure of office is six years, he added.

One of the reasons for this turnover is the increasingly heavy work load on college presidents, he said, adding that many appointees enter the job without realizing its strain and problems.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.

Twentry years ago the flesh merchants operating professional baseball racked their brains to devise a program of stately inconsequence observing the hundredth anniversary of the occasion when Abner Doubleday did not invent the game. Conceived as a promotion stunt, the Hall of Fame won stunt, the Hall of Fame won immediate acceptance as an authentic shrine, a temple of muscle and sanctum of sweat to which every honest ball-player honestly aspired. Lately ballots were sent out for this year's election, and even now assorted heads about the nation are being measured for halos.

When the votes are counted about the end of this month, there will be dimpling and blushing among the freshly commissioned immortals, and eries of indignation from supporters of those left shuffling on the doorsen. That: fling on the doorstep. That's surer than sunrise.

In the first election in January 1936 there were 226 ballots, each bearing the name of ten candidates. Under the rule requiring that a man be named on at least 75 per cent of the ballots, 170 votes were needed for election. Ty Cobb led with 222 votes, Babe Ruth and Honus Wagner got in with 215, Christy Mathewson with 205 and Walter Johnson with 189.

Statisti-cal analysis of the returns indicated that one false etruscan had left Feller's name off his hallot altogether, not even making him his tenth choice for the award.

Cleveland delegates arose in meeting that winter to demand that the scoundrel be exposed, repudiated, have his buttons cut off and be grummed out of the regiment. ### by RED SMITH Ross Stars In Mizzou Fast Break

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 10—

The Missouri Tigers learned first-hand what a difference rebounding makes in basketball as bounding makes in basketball as they trounced the Kansas Jayhawkers, 76 to 54, to open their quest for a Big Seven championship here last night.

It was the same Kansas team that defeated Missouri, 73-56, for the worst Tiger defeat in Big Seven tournament history 10 days ago in Kansas City. But Missouri, hitting a quite respectable 43 per cent of its shots last night against only 26 in the tournament game, won the game on the boards by outhustling and out-rebounding the Jayhawks, 57 to 29.

Coupling good shooting with a tenacious defense, the Tigers upset Kansas' poise midway in the first half, recovered wild passes and sent Bill Ross down court on repeated fast breaks or un up a 42-49 margin. Dr.

Mangrum Sets Sights on Masters After Taking Los Angeles Open

Harrison Gains Tie For Fifth

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 (AP) -Lloyd Mangrum, his bank acfourth victory in a Los Angeles Open, has served a warning to his brother professional golfers that he is back in sound physical condition and aiming at further conquests.

Mangrum made it a start-tofinish triumph in winning the Los Angeles fixture, beginning

Los Angeles fixture, beginning with two straight 66s, then a 68 and a one-over-par 72 that was good enough to stand up at the windup of the thirtieth annual event yesterday.

The one-time National Open champion, who matched the late, great MacDonald Smith in winning this one four times, plans to play in Bing Crosby's big clambake at Pebble Beach this weekend. Then he'll play Phoenix, Tucson and the Texas and Houston Opens. If plans stand up, he'll rest a bit for the Masters at Augusta, Ga., April 5-8.

stand up, he'll rest a bit for the Masters at Augusta, Ga., April 5-8.

"That's one tournament I'd like to win," Mangrum confided.
Tourney Record Bettered.
Lloyd's 72 gave him a 72-hole total of 272, breaking by one stroke the tournament record here set in 1937 by Jimmy Thomson at a comparable Griffith Park municipal course. This one was unfolded at the Rancho municipal course, a par 26-35—71 test over 7048 yards that was tough for some and ever dangerous for most.

Mangrum admitted that he played the last nine holes a little conservative. He held a five-stroke lead over Tommy Bolt and Jerry Barbar, beginning the round, and five over Bolt and six over Barber after the first nine.

"You can afford to play a little on the conservative side with a four or five-stroke lead, he explained. "You can't take many chances on getting a seven or an eight on a hole.

For Gene Littler, the 1955 winner and all but forgotten man of this one, it was a 72 for a one-over-par 285, a tie with Lionel Hebert; each got $535.

Disney, Silver Skates Entry, Takes Second Place in East's Champion of Champions Race

By Neal Russo

Bill Disney, a national titleholder from Pasadena, Calif., didn't have to do a thing in the Champion of Champions ice carnival last night at Madison Square Garden-he would have been among the favorites, anyway, for the Silver Skates meet next Sunday at The Arena.

However, Disney, national sen-ior outdoor co-champion and North American indoor title-holder in 1955, did a good job North American indoor tittleholder in 1955, did a good job of finishing a close second to Kenneth Lebel of Lake Placid,

18-year-old high school student.
Third at New York was Bob

If Olson can make it here, the field of Californians will men's races in the Silver Skates, scheduled to start at 2 o'clock.

Previously announced as having entered were Stan Fail, defending Southwest champion who also halls from Paramount, and Dick Hunt of Los Angeles.
Probably the freshest state champion of all who is registered for Sunday's affair is Joan Wilkowski of West Allis,
Wis. She gained the Wisconsin
Juvenille crown in a meet Sunday.

The already star-studded inholder in 1955, did a good job year.

Back From Korea.

Jim Hindle, a former busy Silver Skater, got back from Korea (and out of service) Sunday, just in time to take in the final pre-meet drills at the Arena tomorrow and Friday nights and at the Winter Garden Thursday night.

However, Jim's appearance at the workouts will be strictly as an observer, for he wasn't able to get around to ice skating in the Orient.

"The Koreans have a pretty good ice skating team," Jim reported. "Just as in Tokyo, they're enthusiastic about speed skating and should do all right in a few years."

Jim and Bill Hindle, who will be in this year's Silver Skates meet, are sons of Durward Hindle, president of the Missouri 'Skating Association.

Ortiz Victor in Portilla Fight In Game Tonight

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)-For a 19-year-old youngster who had his first professional fight less than a year ago, Carlos Ortiz is a good looking lightweight prospect.

The unbeaten Puerto Rican fought his second main event last night, winning a unani-mous decision in eight rounds over Ray Portilla of New York. Ortiz weighed 135 pounds to Portilla's 141 although the contracts called for 135 pounds. Referee Peter Della and Judge Joe Agnello voted 6-2 and Judge Harold Barnes 5-2-1. The Associated Press card was 6-2, also for Ortiz.

A strong Ortiz delegation in the crowd of 1700 paying $2626 to see the televised bout whooped it up all the way. Ortiz tired in the late stages after dashing to an early lead but had more than enough to take the decision.

The youngster came to the United States at the age of 9. He learned his boxing at the Boys Club of New York and the Police Athletic League. Because he won't be 20 until Sept. 15, he is limited to eightround matches. Ortiz weighed 135 pounds to

Gonzales Gains What's Going On Here? Ritenour His 10th Win Wrestlers Work Like Fury After Over Trabert Dropping Two Non-League Meets

By John J. Archibald

Who, asks the stranger, are those boys running around the track on this cold January day? Over-anxious trackmen? Basketball players, maybe? Baseball pitchers keeping their legs in shape?

Shape?

Wrong, says the man with the sparse hair which shows he is a coach; those are wrestlers. These boys of varied shapes and sizes, he says, will run around this quarter-mile track at least once and they will sprint 100 yards at least twice —every day. Then they will go inside for 15 minutes of brisk calisthenics. After that, they will begin to think about wrestling.

Obviously this must be Ritenour High School, the stranger concludes. Only at the "Notre Dame of prep wrestling" could one expect to find such goings on.

Grim Situation.

And Ritenour it was. The coach, ex-Missouri University.

Dame of prep wrestling could one expect to find such goings on.

Grim Situation.

And Ritenour it was. The coach, ex-Missouri University lineman John Moore, spoke matter-of-factly about the conditioning work his wrestlers do, the doesn't even bother to watch them as they do their running, because he knows they'll do as asked.

The situation is grim among Ritenour wrestlers this season. The school that has won the state champions for the past eight years and the Suburban League mat title in all those years except one has been joilted by two non-league defeats by future league opponents. What, say Ritenour wrestling fans—and the capacity crowds at night matches at home show that wrestling is very much as spectator sport among the Huskies—is going on?

The fact that Moore's team has won all three of its Suburban League matches is only partially comforting. The most encouraging factor there is that one of the league victims, Maplewood, had previously defeated one of the teams that

The St. Nick promotors, on the other hand, faced a life-ordeath fight for survival. Sullivan said he was told in Baltimore, when arranging to move the show, "I'd have to co-promote with Benny Trotta (whom Helfand blasted as having a criminal record). My sole dealing with Trotta was his introduction of me to Nahum Bernstein, the man who owned the Baltimore Coliseum where the bouts were to take place."

Helfand refused to elaborate on what he meant by "other matters" in addition to the "Maryland situation" when he asked Thomas to file charges as soon as possible. The President's farm program comes as no surprise. Most of its chief particulars have been disclosed in recent weeks by "dope" stories out of Washington and by various remarks of Agriculture Secretary Benson. Farm income and surpluses are twin aspects of the same problem. They cannot be dealt with separately, as politically-minded advocates of a simple return to high and rigid supports conveniently assume. Mr. Eisenhower's program, it seems to us, recognizes the, twin nature of the farm problem and proposes to deal with it intelligently and effectively. Madison County Group Backs Prosecutor Candidate Whom Stevenson Assailed.

Assistant State's Attorney Austin Lewis was indorsed for state's attorney by Madison county Democratic slatemakers today after his boss, State5s Attorney Fred P. Schuman, an-nounced he would not be a candidate for re-election at the April primary.

April primary.

Lewis, who served as state's attorney from 1948 to 1952, die attorney from 1948 to 1952, did not seek re-election in 1952 after Adlai E. Stevenson, then Governor of Illinois, made it known he considered Lewis unfit for the job.

Stevenson criticized Lewis publicly and privately for his failure to enforce gambling laws. In the first two years of Lewis's term, Madison county gamblers were chosen as the first objectives of state police raids in May 1950.

Schuman, then leader of the Democratic party in Madison county, entered the race after Lewis quit. After being elected he then appointed Lewis as his first assistant. Lewis has a reputation as a good trial prosecutor.

Schuman has been mentioned as a possible candidate for both the Democratic nomination for United States Senator and At-

United States Senator and Attorney General. In announcing his decision not to run for reelection he said he would not be a candidate for any state or federal office, however. He is expected to return to his private law practice.

The indorsement of Lewis was made by the executive committee of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee. The committee also indorsed Simon Kellerman Jr., Edwardsville, incumbent, for county clerk; James F. Chapman, Collinsville, for recorder of deeds, and Thomas Burke, Alton for coroner.

The group failed to indorse and Hollas Birke, Aitol for coroner.

The group failed to indorse the incumbent Democratic coroner, Ben F. Staten of Alton, for re-nomination. Harry T. Hartman of Venice, incumbent recorder of deeds, has announced he will not seek re-election. Hartman, former mayor of Venice, was fined $20,000 in November 1954 when he pleaded guilty of income tax evasion in United States District Court at Springfield, Ill.

United States Attorney Harry Richards today in the court of United States District Judge Rubey M. Hulen.
Richards said he had been authorized by the Attorney General's office to dismiss the charges because Callanan already is under a 12-year sentence for labor racketeering and the dismissal would save the Government the cost of a trial. The cases involved an alleged attempt to extort $1099 from a pipelme contractor and an unspecified amount of money from 'a construction company.

And with the same mix you can turn out a party dessert that will do you proud. Looks fancy? Yes, but it's so easy.

You'll notice a special, tangy taste about these blueberries. They're wild blueberries, the most flavorful kind... Duncan Hines insists on them

Pick up a package at your grocer's. Better still, two packages. Try it both ways.

Blueberry Party Roll adds glamour and good eating to your party table Cake Roll—Beat 3 eggs until thick. Stir In 1/2 cup sugar and one package Duncan Hines Blueberry Muffin Mix.

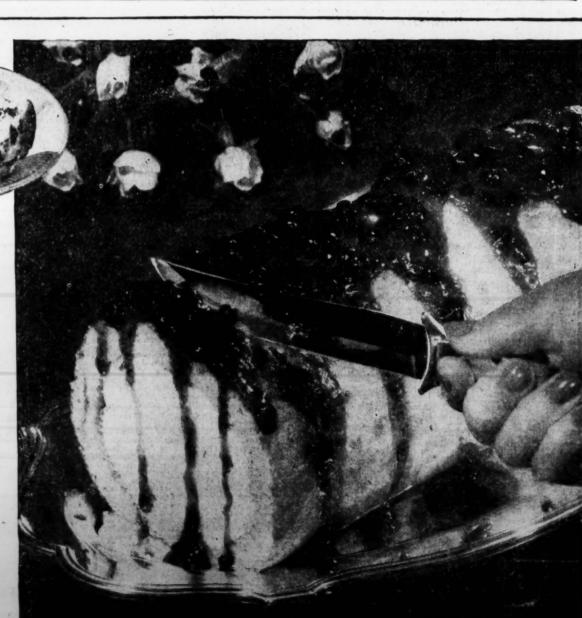

Add ¼ cup water; mix gently (do not overmix). Spread in greased and floured jelly roll pan (10% x 15% in.). Bake 10 minutes in  $400^\circ$  oven. Turn out on towel sprinkled with powdered sugar. Starting at short side, roll up cake and towel together; cool.

Blueberry Sauce-Drain juice from the can of blueberries into measuring cup; add enough water to make 1 cup. In saucepan, mix 1½ Tblsp. cornstarch, ½ cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. cianamon. Stir in juice. Cook and stir until thick and clear. Reduce heat; cook 5 minutes more. Stir in 1 Tblsp. lemon juice, 2 Tblsp. butter or margarine, and blueberries.

To Serve—Unroll cake and remove towel. Place a quart brick (or 2 plnts) vanilla ice cream in center. Fold ends of cake around ice cream; put on platter. Pour on warm

More people than ever depended on the Illinois Central Railroad for transportation during 1955. The result: one of our busiest years.

Being a common carrier, our job is to handle everything for everybody at all times. This takes many kinds of freight cars and lots of them, particularly in a busy year. To keep our 1955 supply of cars at a peak, we put extra time and money into car maintenance. The result: a record of nearly 98 per cent of our cars on the job.

Those occasions when we were pinched for cars reflected the nation-wide shortage that kept too many of our cars off our own lines. This we worked hard to correct.

To keep our railroad abreast with the needs of Mid-America, we have spent a total of $228 million for improvements-plus $760 million for maintenance of operating property and equipment-during the past ten years.

This year we plan to build 2,000 new box cars in our own shops. All told we will spend $35 million for new equipment and improvement of the railroad. For we are firmly convinced that our friends throughout Mid-America will continue to grow and prosper. We are determined to meet their transportation needs.

STRENGTHENING METAL RESISTANCE

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP). NE LARGE CONSTRUCTION COMPANY has a "metal dentist" spending his full time filling cavities in the 30 pound iron teeth of power shovels.

Railroad switches are retreaded with metal much as old tires are retreaded with rubber.

It's all part of the intense search for nev alloys and new processes to make metals perform new tasks and last longer and to cut down on expensive delays in our speededmechanized world.

On many fronts the drive goes on. By a little shift in the alloy mix in steel furnaces, engineers come up with metal that can take stresses up to 250,000 pounds per square inch—twice what high tension steels usually are expected to withstand — but necessary in the landing gear struts for giant aircraft.

EXPERIMENTING WITH HEAT TREATMENT OF STEEL made possible the extra strong pipe which today's deeper oil wells demand. Construction engineers are offered a new boltdriving tool utilizing a torsion bar and torque tension. Ingersoll-Rand says its device will speed steel construction and in factories make for greater precision in driving bolts to desired tensions. A vacuum melting process for making high purity steel promises tougher roller bearings, longer lasting valve aprings, metal parts that can withstand higher temperatures. Capping the broken teeth of power shovels is what metalworkers call "hard-facing." This metal retreading process is also used in repairing ploughshares, tractor treads, bulldozer blades, wearing parts of mining machinery, worn cross tracks and switches on

THE AMERICAN MANGANESE STEEL DIVISION of Amer-Ican brake shoe, which makes welding rod and mechanical equipment for hardfacing, contends the process can increase the life of metal parts from two to 25 times. A large construction contractor may use as much as a half ton of welding rod each month. Retreading worn or broken parts means the equipment can be put back into operation quickly-and that a whole power isn't lost each time a tooth or two snaps. Hardfacing experts also say industry is taking a tip from Hollywood stars who have unbroken teeth capped to make them look better

IN INDUSTRY MORE BRAND-NEW EQUIPMENT IS BEING hardfaced before it breaks. Brake shoe metallurgists make the selling point that the manganese steel often stands up better than the original metal in parts subject to hard wear. Hardfacing can also make metal lead a double life. By retreading only on the wearing side, metal parts can combine a hard exterior to resist abrasion with a softer but tougher interior to hold up under impact. Gear teeth, for example, often are hardfaced only on their wearing sides. This technique was discovered in World War II when engineers hardfaced a special kind of iron alloy on the rocker arms in the valve mechanism of PT boat engines.

THIS AND OTHER NEW PROCESSES and perhaps new alloys yet to come should get a still greater workout as we move into the age of automation and heap still heavier burdens on machines.

ILLINOIS TERMINAL SALE PLAN ASSAILED

Might Result in Abandon ment, Attorney Says-Rail Official Denies It.

By EDWARD F. WOODS A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10-Fear that the proposed sale of the Illinois Terminal Railroad of St. Louis to 11 major railroads would result in total abandonment of the Terminal abandonment of the Terminal system was expressed by James L. Givan, Washington attorney, at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing today. Givan, who represented the Gillespie Coal Mining Co. and the Illinois towns of Gillespie and Carlinville, said he believed the 11 railroads had two main objectives in the purchase. He said they were to block the Toledo, Peoria & Western railroad from extending its line road from extending its line and to put Illinois Terminal "in a strait-jacket," leading to "the ultimate suppression and stag-nation of the line."

The commission took the case under consideration after hear ing arguments for and against the proposed $20,000,000 trans-action. A decision is expected in about three months.

Illinois terminal would be reduced to a "switching opera-ion," asserting that "everything will be done to protect the interests of the Illinois Terminal."

As for Givan's contention that the purchase of one railroad by a combination of other lines would reduce competition in violation of the Clayton antitrust act and the L.C.C. act, Martin said one of the ideas behind the purchase is that it will promote competition among the purchasers.

The 11 railroads are the Burlington; Baltimore & Ohio; Chicago & Eastern Illinois; Gulf, Mobile & Ohio; Illinois Central; Litchfield & Madison; New York, Chicago & St. Louis; St. Louis-San Francisco; Wabash; Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific and the New York Central, will be done to protect the in-terests of the Illinois Terminal."

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)— The Bell System, consisting of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its principal telephone subsidiaries, reported net income for 12 months ended Nov. 30 of $673,532.418 equal to $13.01 a share, a 27-year high. CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)— Grains went through another indecisive session on the Board of Trade today. While dealings were fairly active, price changes did not extend to any substantial fig-ure. Corn firmed early, losing some of its gain later.

Buying of corn was based on very heavy impoundings of cash corn under the Government loan. Wheat responded to con-tinued dry weather in the Southwest.

Cleo F. Craig, AT&T president, said the Bell System had added some 2,850,000 new telephones last year, nearly 50 percent more than in 1954. He said the gain of about 900,000 telephones in the last quarter was the second largest on record. The high was set in the last quarter of 1947 when 932,000 new telephones were added.

In a yearend statement to shareowners, Craig added that December with an estimated 356,600 new telephones looked like the biggest monthly increase on record. The previous record was 332,000 phones added in March, 1946.

The department also recommended increasing statistical studies to determine future needs for newsprint well in advance, and thus permit time to exoand production.

The forest products division of the Commerce department made the investigation on which the department based its report. United States embassies in 25 countries were cabled for information on foreign newsprint needs and production.

"This analysis shows a substantial world deficit in newspriat," the Commerce Department said, "and an apparent substantial deficit for United States publishers for some years to come."

The 86-page report said thin 1955 world production of newsprint totaled 12,500,000 tons—a 145,000-ton deficit in world needs. The United States share of the deficit was 100,000

Bean Boats are hearty fixin's for teen-age party or family supper. Cut top from long buns; scoop out. Brush with butter or margarine; toast in oven. Dab with mustard, line with large slice of bologna cut in two. Spoon on Libby's Deep-Brown Beans—hot or cold. Get Libby's tender beans in your favorite style.

LIBBY'S EEP-BROWN BEANS

Snacking-Good Main Dish can be fixed in a breeze—like this: Heat a 1½ lb. can of delicious Libby's Beef Stew on top of stove or in the oven. (It's like homemade... with its big, lean pieces of tender beef, three garden vegetables, savory brown gravy!). Just before serving, garnish with packaged crisp, flavorful corn snacks.

COMPASSIONATE PRESIDENT

Mrs. Francisco Camacho weeping in the arms of President Ramon Magsaysay of the Philippines as he takes the salute at parade honoring her late husband, M/Sgt. Francisco Camacho, and a comrade, Cpl. Weene Martillana. The two soldiers were posthumously awarded their country's highest decoration for valor for the part they played in the capture of Eddie Villapando, notorious Huk commander. The men posed as civilians and befriended Villapando, gaining valuable information which led to his capture, but they died before his arrest.

PORTABLE PIERS

Lofty columns of the Army's De Long portable piers rise above barges on a tow from Blaye to Le Verdon, France, in preparation for the European Command's forthcoming beaching exercises. The self-elevating structures can be towed to the erection site, utilized as piers to discharge cargo, then later dismantled and moved to new locations.

SAD ARRIVAL

Gertrude Zollmer, tiny German refugee, was unable to hold back the tears as she arrived in her new country yesterday aboard the transport Gen. Langfitt. Gertrude, 8 months old, is en route to Fort Wayne, Ind., where she will live with relatives. She was among 1152 European refugees who landed in New York yesterday.

TIP FOR TIPPLERS

Forthright approach to the problem of traffic safety is employed by Belgian authorities who posted sign in Brussels bearing warning: "Drunken Drivers, Get Off Our Roads." Officials are carrying on an intensive campaign against traffic violators in an effort to curb the rising accident rate, -Associated Press Wirephota.

STRANGE CATCH

Thomas Mastronadi (left) of Brooklyn, N.Y., trying his hand at fishing from a Miami Beach (Fla.) pier yesterday, was startled to find that he had hooked a seagull. A woman observer is removing the hook from the bird's wing, where it lodged when Mastronadi made his cast.

UDREY HEPBURN and Mel Ferrer have been Amarried for over a year and they've only been 'divorced" once. They consider this a record for . Hollywood couple.

announced in an Italian magazine.

"The first we heard about it," said Ferrer, "was three weeks ago. We were in our hotel room around 11:30 at night and received a phone call from an editor in Holland who had read the Italian magazine and wanted to know if it was true that Audrey had left me. I told him if it was true it was a helluva scoop, beheard anything about ourselves. I let him speak to Audrey.

AUDREY HEPBURN "The editor told Audrey the news and also said the magazine quoted her directly as saying it was all over.

her directly as saying it was all over."

MISS HEPBURN continued: "The whole basis for the story seemed to be the fact that I gave an interview in Denmark in which I said that I loved working with Mel on 'War and Peace.' I told the reporter I kage it couldn't happen often. That seems to be the line that made them give us the divorce. They quoted me as saying: 'It's over. I can never work with him again.'

"When we received the magazine a week later we were surprised to find they used some old photos of us, taken many months before. One was a two-page spread of Mel and me playing ping-pong, and the caption underneath read: 'This is the last game of ping-pong they'll ever play.' Another photo showed me eating an apple with the caption: 'Her first sign of misery.'"

"A story like that is awfully tough because you don't know who's read it," said Ferrer. "People are always bound to say; 'Where there is smoke there's fire.'"

THE FERRERS PLAN to spend most of 1956 in Europe. Ferrer is making a Jean Renoir picture with Ingrid Bergman, and Miss Hepburn is scheduled to play in Billy Wilder's "Ariane," with Gary Cooper, in April, which will be made in Paris. Then Ferrer will do "Modigliani" in France and Miss Hepburn will go to Vienna to film William Wyler's production of "L'Aigion."

"We don't own a car or a home," Miss Hepburn said. "It's very difficult for us to decide where we're going to live. The home will have to indicate itself by our work."

by our work."

** FERRER SAID he wanted to direct pictures. "I hate acting." he said. "I want to direct more than anything. I directed three pictures, but none of them was any good, so I decided to stick to acting. But I'd like to try my hand at it again. It's difficult for me now because every time I want to buy something, people assume it's a property for Audrey. Some people think: 'He's trying to use Audrey to further his career.' But I've leaned over backward to keep our professional careers separated. I've even refused to read scripts submitted to Audrey because I don't want to influence her one way or the other."

Miss Hepburn said: "I've always made my own decisions. If I let Mel influence me and it didn't turn out right he would feel he was to blame."

"Will you give up acting?" we asked Ferrer.

"That would be a wild statement," he replied. "If I directed a bad picture, where would I be?"

she was employed. She had just gone off duty.

The end of the Korean war, election of President Eisenhower, the hydrogen bomb, Premier Stalin's death — all have happened without her knowledge. Neither has she been aware of the 17 changes of season that have passed her by.

Yet Mrs. Howland at 36 is the picture of health—her beautifully smooth hands carefully manicured, her dark reddish hair permanent waved and her physical condition above average. There is only one thing lacking, the spark of consciousness.

Doctors say her condition is unique. Never before has a person with an injured brain lived so long in an unconscious state. There is a roughly similar case in nearby Lodi, Calif. Elmer Schott, 29, has been in a coma at a rest home since May 3, 1952, when the plane he was piloting crashed at an airfield. To date, Mrs. Howland's care has cost San Joaquin county $11,905 for medicines, special food, and other items. Her husband, Donald, paid $3820 from an insurance settlement and the county assumes the rest.

DONALD, from whom Mrs. Howland was separated at the time of the accident, rushed back to her side and with their son Ralph, now 15, was a faithful attendant at her bedside for three years before returning to Wichita, Kan, to enter business there. Ralph is a high school student in Wichita and a cafeteria worker in off hours. Both plan to come to Stockton this month to visit Mrs. Howland.

The most faithful personal care, however, has come from Mrs. Howland's friend, Doris Wilson, driver of the car in which Mrs. Howland was injured. She is a nurse's assistant at the hospital. She has visited her daily, in her off-duty hours, and insists that "Abbie," as everyone refers to Mrs. Howland, knows her.

The other nurses and nurses assistants are inclined to agree with this, saying that Abbie seems far more alert when Miss Wilson is around. Even the doctors say that this sometimes seems to be true, even though they believe it medically impossible.

Everyone at the hospital is extremely proud of the job of keeping Abbie alive and in excellent health.

They have given her careful daily massages to combat the trouble that could be caused by lying in beef; they watch carefully to see that she receives her diet of eggs, milk

All talk to her, trying and praying that they can succeed in piercing the wall that has cut her off from the world of the living.

cut her off from the world of the living.

Modern drugs have fended off diseases which the doctors say surely would have caused her death in an earlier day. In fact, she is so healthy and well fed that she must sometimes be placed on a "diet" to prevent any major gain in weight.

Robert Brissenden, admittance director at the sprawling, well-run hospital that cares for a wide variety of patients in the big agricultural county, said that Mrs. Howland's diagnosis is "diffuse cerebral atrophy secondary to trauma."

She had other major injuries—indeed she was listed as critical for two months—but recovered from these. Then, one day, she moved her arms and opened her eyes. But something apparently irreparable had happened—she could not take the final step back over the threshold.

"We keep praying for the miracle that will make this possible," Brissenden said. "We have not only done everything

Burr holes were bored in the skull to see if surgery was feasible. It was not. But we try everything else suggested by the hundreds of letters if we feel it will not harm her.

"For instance, a priest sent a bottle of holy water from Lourdes, but to no avail. And as soon as I find the record of Mozart's 'Jubilee' I intend to play it in her room—one woman in Hawaii wrote that if we did this for a week, it would snap her to consciousness.

"We intend to leave no stone unturned. She was fond of music before the accident. It seems to register annoyance," said Mrs. Curry. "She also responds to noise. But you can move her hands to any position, and she will not object; possibly she will not move them again for hours. would be wonderful if it reaches

"Miss Wilson, in all these years, has only missed 27 daily visits. She gives her permanents, fixes her nails, dressed her in bed jackets; talks to her. "Abbie opens her eyes, appears to follow you. She has a peculiar grimace of the face and mouth that resembles a smile. Miss Wilson insists that it is a smile; that she knows her."

Dr. Duane Deakins, hospital medical director, says that Abbie may live to an old age. She is capable of making gutteral sounds; she has better control of her eyes in recent months and responds to sounds; she can eat, but so slowly that she would starve to death were it not for the tube feeding. Mrs. Curry said she appears to respond to someone's stroking her head.

Doctors say that Abbie appears simply in a state of endless waiting for something that may not happen.

A Flattering Brown

OF ALL the fashion-wise who wear brown this year, the standout is the silver-haired lovely. The new rich shades are standout is the shades are widely becoming to women of other colorings, but when she blossoms out in a flattering brown, the effect is stunning.

The top fashion shades seem to have been chosen for those who seldom wore brown before; and the woman with white, sliver, or salt-and-pepper tresses finds they create a distinctive new contrast with her coloring.

And she discovers new wardrobe possibilities, because brown is a practical color, a basic color, an escape from the same basic colors she's worn for

THERE'S SELDOM a season when basic change is possible, but now so many beatiful browns are offered in all the fundamentals of a wardrobe. And the fashion importance of brown is so great it's bound to last, to suit your wise longrange plan of wardrobe buying.

If your coloring comes under the warm gray classification (if your skin has ochre or pink tones and your eyes are brown), you'll find various shades of brown that are right for you. If it's cool gray (skin with blue undertones, blue, gray, green or hazel eyes), the very deep browns with glowing tints are your best choice. These are almost as emphatic as black and are great favorites. Brown with a yellow cast are the ones to avoid for both the warm and the cool gray coloring. cool gray coloring.

FOR the greatest chic, scheme FOR the greatest chic, scheme your brown costume as a martly as a black one, with everything to match and accent in small white or color spots and jewelry, or only in jewelry with perhaps a touch of brisk color ny your hat. Avoid mixing shades of brown or more than a little trimming.

If you wear a second color with brown, be sure the brown is predominant. But during a basic color change-over, you can wear black with brown, which is a special high fashion combination.

NLY addition to the course of study for the gifted students—those with an I.Q. of 125 or over—is foreign language, being taught this year on an experimental basis as a pilot study. There are other language classes in 15 elementary schools, mostly for second and third graders, but the subject is not normally taught in a sixth-grade curriculum and authorities are watching the progress of the nine new classes to determine whether it will remain as a required study. The classes are taught by Dr. Ralph Perry, professor of foreign languages at Harris Teachers College, and Lionel LeBeau, a special instructor. It may be another three or four years before they get down to a real study of French grammar, Dr. Perry said. Meanwhile, they are building a strong foundation of fluency which will make their later studies easier.

"So often, when a student sees the foreign language written out in the textbook, a pattern of mispronunciation develops that is difficult to overcome," he said. "This way, the youngsters don't see the words at first so they don't fall into the wrong fattern. They repeat what is said to them and gradually learn expressions and gradually learn expressions and idioms spoken as the French people speak them."

DR. PERRY is teaching the pupils the niceties of the language as well as its most familiar expressions. They say, "Oui, Monsieur," just as they would say "Yes, sir," in English. They repeat the other's name, as a courteous Frenchman does, when they say goodby.

"It is often easier for those in the early greater "It is often easler for those in the early grades to learn a foreign language than the older students," said Dr. Perry. "Their love of imitation and their lack of self-consciousness are big helps to them."

Both Dr. Perry and LeBeau agree that the tediousness and headaches of grammar study often turn youngsters against a foreign language, whereas they can learn to love its sound and grace—as well as gain a sense of achievement—in actual conversation before going into the harder studies of declensions, conjugations, moods and all the other language headaches familiar to generations of reluctant young scholars.

Both instructors plan to bring an additional touch of France into the schoolrooms, either via tape recordings of a French school girl's voice or with a movie of life in that country.

"The children can develop a less provincial point of view," said Dr. Perry. "It is another phase of our over-all program to enrich the curriculum offered to those students who because of high potential stand out from the group," Smith said. As it happened, three notrump would have been virtually foolproof, but the same can be-said about the actual fivediamond contract. As a matter of fact, the only thing that could cost South that latter contract was to expose himself to the same danger that he might have incurred—if he tried very hard—at three no-trump.

Incidentally, before getting to the play, note that South acted properly in starting with a heart bid, on his four-card suit, instead of opening with one diamond. A certain school of bidding will not agree with this observation—for one thing, that school bars the bid of a four-card major suit in first or second position—but the outstanding players throughout the world have little sympathy with the ideas of that school.

Defending against five diamonds, West shrewdly avoided the lead of the unbid guit, clubs, in favor of leading through the dummy's spade indess with the feeling that either the spade king or the club king figured to lie right, he put in dummy's spade queen. East won and shifted to the jack of clubs, and now South was facing a hopeless situation.... Down one.

Taking the spade finesse was a major error—not so much because it exposed South to the loss of that trick but because it ruined the timing of the play. South did not have to worry about losing a spade trick, it was the loss of a club that he couldn't afford, and which it would have been so easy to avoid. The clearly marked line of correct play was to put up the spade ace and knock out the trump see, then to draw the outstanding trumps and discard dummy's clubs on South's hearts, finally ruffing the club queen on the table.

Almost any floor on the sec-ond floor can sag if it makes up its mind to do so but the most its mind to do so but the most its mind to do so but the most common one is the bathroom. This can be due to two very sound reasons. One reason is that the floor is not strong enough to support the weight of the heavy plumbing fixtures and the other is that the floor joists were notched out a little too much to allow pipes to be run across them. Sometimes the floor joists have been notched so much that they have split.

floor joists have been notched so much that they have split. When you have a sagging floor on the second floor it's best to rip' up epough of the floor boards so you can see just what is causing all the trouble. If the joists are undersize or have split from notching, they can be reinforced by nailing a length of 2 in. x 4 in. to each side. The ends of these 2 in. x 4 in. must rest on the plate of interior partitions or the outside wall.

Of course, before these 2 in. x 4 in. are installed, the floor should be jacked up so that it's level and this is complicated. The best way to handle it is to place a long length of lumber—a 2 in. x 10 or better—on the floor directly under the one that has sagged. This piece of lumber should run at right angles to the floor joists over which it rests. Now a jack post can be placed on this strip of lumber centered under the sagging floor. Now you very gently start turning up the jack on the post until the floor above is level.

Then why are teachers taken from classrooms and assigned to help the assistant superintendents and the assistant-assistants to do office work? Why not let teachers do the work they are trained to do and appoint clerks to the offices? And why so much paper work anyway? The schools would thrive with much less. Clerks need work. #### Miss Elizabeth Beeson, R. E. Tafel Jr., Engaged

By Karin Hayward

AND MRS. JOHN KENNEDY BEESON of Fox M Chapel, a suburb of Pittsburgh, Pa., have announced the engagement of their younger daughter. Miss Elizabeth Blakesley Beeson, to Ralph Edward Tafel Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Edward Tafel, also of Fox Chapel.

The bride-elect, whose mother was Miss Dorinda Ken-nerly of St. Louis, is a granddaughter of Claude Saugrain Kennerly, 28 Portland place, and the late Edith Collins Kennerly, Miss Beeson is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand Le Blanc (Noel Kennerly) of San Francisco.

Miss Beeson and her sister, Miss Dorinda Beeson, were presented to St. Louis society with their cousin, Miss Blakeslee Cook, at a late June party in 1934 given by Miss Cook's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Cook, at the Cook country place at Vigus. Mo. They made their debuts in the East that year at a ball given by Mr. and Mrs. Beeson at Fox Chapel Country Club.

The bride-elect attended Mary Institute during World War II, when, with her mother and her sister she lived in St. Louis while her father was serving overseas. A former student of Abbot Academy, Andover, Mass., she is a graduate of The Ellis School, Pittsburgh. At the present ime she is a sophomore at Allegheny College, Meadville, Mr. Tafel, also a student at Allegheny College, is a graduate of Shady Side Academy, Pittsburgh.

Miss Dorinda Beeson recently returned to her home from St. Louis, having come here to participate in the holiday festivities for the debutantes. She was a guest at

BELLINGHAM, Wash. N GIVING you an account of my Thursday activities last week I purposely did not mention a meeting I attended that evening of the Citizens' Committee for Children because I felt I wanted to tell you in more detail about it. It was cause I felt I wanted to tell you in more detail about it. It was called to acquaint members of the committee with conditions for teen-age youngsters in New York City—and, of course, they are no different from those ex-are no different from those existing in other large cities.

The first prepared report that was given us was called "The Neglected Age." The age covered was from 13 to 21 and is the age during which delinquency and youthful crime rate are at their highest. It is apparently, according to this report, the age when there are sat gaps in community services to meet the needs of this age group.

THERE is a recent Children's Bureau publication, I understand, which, in speaking of the transition between childhood and adulthood usually known as adolescence, describes it in the words of Charles Dickens (though he used the words for together and go out for dinner now and then and enjoy each other's com-pany, but here is the hitch. We have had them at our home to dinner and parties on numerous oc-casions but they run with other crowds. We have never been invited to their affairs, including New Year's parties. Please understand, we are not envious, but we feel rather BILLY.

I don't really think anything is "wrong." It's just that as the years go by paths separate and often people begin to lose touch with old friends as they make new associations. Apparently, they are fond of you or they wouldn't accept your invitations, but maybe they feel you wouldn't have much in common with some of the others they know have much in common don't include you for certain affairs.

Most people have a number of different associations—through their office, for instance, or their church, or through a hobby or interest in music or art or sports. And it isn't likely that they would have all these different associations in common with even one couple, let alone a number. So, try not to feel offended when you aren't invited to certain parties at their home, but continue to enjoy the small evenings when just the four of you can be together.

I FEEL RATHER SILLY writing this letter but I read in your column the other day the letter from the man who said he had been stabbed in the back and was afraid to trust women again. I'm 27 and was burned like this but I'm not afraid to try. My only trouble is finding the right girl. Maybe I can't see the trees for the forest, but I've been looking for a year and a half and I'm right where I started. I know there are a lot of fellows in the same position so how about doing us all a favor and telling us where there is a chance of meeting some decent girls. All the ones I've met are married or going to be married or aren't interested. Well, Martha, I'll leave it up to you. I'm the kind of guy who would give anything to have home of my own. I don't care for this single life. You tell me where the nice girls are and I'll take it from there.

You know what I think your trouble is? You're mentally checking off every girl you meet as to whether she might be a likely prospect. Stop looking for a wife, Instead, start going with groups of other young people your age, intent only on having a pleasant evening and enjoying their friendship. The first thing you know you'll be attracted to a certain girl and she'll like you and you're on your way. Nearly every church has groups of young adults.
The Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. have mived groups but for study or hobby activities or for dances and parties. I have on my desk now the following note: "We wish to extend an invitation to all fellas and girls who are interested in joining a young adult group between the ages of 19 and 35. We call ourselves the County Y.W.C.A. Coed Club. Our parties and dances are on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month at the County 'Y', 140 North Brentwood boulevard, Clayton. For further information call HArrison 8-7753, or WOodland 1-7919, any evening after 6."

Write today for Martha Carr's special stork shower leaflet if you're planning to entertain in honor of a mother-to-be. Please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Take this word of advice, for instance: "That which remains next, is to teach young Ladies to beware of the Reputation of being "witty." (The capitals are the author's.) That is still pretty good advice. The girl who gets laughs usually doesn't get the man.

For men still distrust a witty woman. Oh, a sense of humor in a woman is a fine thing. She needs enough to make her able to appreciate a man's wit, to permit her to see the funny side of life's minor mishaps, to be able to disperse storm clouds with a light-hearted bit of nonsense.

* * * BUT HAVING a sense of humor doesn't give a woman the reputation for being witty.

The thing that gives a woman a reputation for being witty is cutting a person down to size by a comment as sharp as it is funny, seeing through others' little pretensions and making a joke of them, always getting the last and biggest laugh, turning someone else's blunder into a

Choosing The Right Lipstick

IPSTICK colors come in three basic shades of true red, blue red, and sort of an orangey-red. Blondes look best in vivid cherry, coral, and clear ruby and only pale pink when they want to look extra fragile. Dark brunettes are glamorous in true reds, blue reds, and rosy pinks; brownies, best in scarlets and dark reds with purple tones. Redheads with purple tones. Redheads with purple tones. Redheads should stick to all the shades of with purple tones. Recheads should stick to all the shades of coral and orange.

The proper application of lipstick is essential and can either make or ruin your whole make-up job. It may take more time and practice, but the most perfect make-up of the lips is done with a lipstick brush. Always hold your thumb against the chin to steady your fingers, and you will put it on in a perfect manner. A brush is economical as you can use up that last bit of lip rouge that is well down in the tube and would normally be discarded when stick is used just to the rim.

To make lipstick last longer first dust lips with powder. Fill in inner lips with a few quick strokes right from the tube. If you are at home you can prop your elbows firmly on the dresser top and your thumb on your chip when using your

Now blot your lips on a tissue and check that they look neat and even. Wait a few minutes and then blot again. This will eliminate any thick or overdone effect and your lipstick will stay on almost indefinitely.

Roman Stripes Roman striped sport shirts are liked by the boys as well as the girls. One striking shirt made by Kaynee has the new, wider Italian collar. Collar and sliceves are of a two-tone stripe while the rest of the shirt features the Roman striped pattern.

WANT THINGS? WATCH THE WANT ADS!

THE scene from the movie, "Grand Hotel," in which Greta Garbo delivered her well-remembered "I want to be alone" line in talking with John Ba rrymore, will be seen on the Jan. 18 "Parade program on KWK-TV. The film, made in 1932, became Miss Garbo as writers "tradem ark" as writers Milton Berle is on a schedule of 13 shows a year but wants to cut down more, for two reasons. His doctor has told him to get more rest, and he wants a more normal social life. Between shows he keeps busy working on material, lining up talent, or rehearsing.

Television Notes and Gossip

Greta Garbo as wr picked up the phrase.

Judy Holliday and George

Jessel will be seen in the Milton Berle color revue on KSD-TV tonight.

Rudy Vallee, as a guest on the Johnny Carson Show on KWK-TV Thursday night, will present a sketch on the days of the flapper.

"Matinee Theater" on KSD-TV tomorrow afternoon will add more to television history when it presents TV's first drama to be done live in color from an outdoor loca-tion. The telecast will come from Rancho Rinconada orange groves in California's San Fernando valley.

Julius La Rosa's fiancee, Rosemary Meyer, went to New York four years ago to study liberal arts and psy-chology at Columbia Univer-sity. But she left school to enter the business world and held several jobs before her present one as Perry Como's private secretary.

Bernadette O'Farrell, the "Maid Marian" of the "Robin Hood" series, lives in a house near London that dates back nearly to the Robin Hood era. Prince John, pictured as the villainous friend of the Sheriff of Nottingham in the current series once had a hunt-rent series, once had a hunt-ing lodge on the site.

rehearsing. Jonathan Winters of "Comedy Hour" used to be an artist and disc jockey in Dayton, O. In his comedy routines, imaginary people often wind up shot, stabbed or drowned. But, says Winters, comedy is essentially cruel.

"Wide Wide World" will extend its lenses to the Brit-ish empire Jan. 29 simply by building a TV relay station on Bimini, a tiny coral island in the Bahamas group just 50 miles off Miami Beach.

After holding out for a long time, Bette Davis is going in for TV in a big way. She plans to make three films for early showing on television. No more "Topper" films are being made for television, and the series may not be revived.

Bing Crosby's "High Tor," for a Star Jubilee presenta-tion in February, has been completed on film.

Richard Boone is trying to break his "Medie" contract. The show's producers have felt that if he does other TV work he'll lose his identity solely as a doctor. They want him to take no roles that might detract from the dignity of the medical profession.

Memo to a BLONDE

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
LESSA was startled at Jan's tone. She smiled and sought to pacify her. "Well, I'm sure things will work out, Jan," she said kindly. "I hope you'll be back with me soon. I surely miss you."

"Thanks, Clessa. You are very considerate and I appre-ciate it."

Lew continued to glower at Lew continued to glower at Jan.

"Keep in touch with me. Jan," Clessa said as they left.

"Call me once in a while."

When Clessa and Lew reached the walk. Clessa turned to look back. "What did she mean by that remark about not having the slightest idea? She said it so strangely."

"The dame's punchy. Don't worry about her," Lew said.

"She isn't punchy, Lew. She's a smart girl and a good girl. I'll never find another like her."

"They're a dime a dozen," he told her. "Get her off your

"How can I?" she asked. "All the trouble she's in."
"Whose fault is it? Not yours. You should worry."
"I ean't help it, Lew. I'm very fond of Jan."
"Jan this, Jan that. It's all I hear," he complained.
Clessa took his arm. "Let's walk back to the shop," she said. "I want to talk to you."
"Let's take a taxl. I gotta see a men about a deal."
"You want to get a bet down for the first race at Pimlico. I know who your man is. He's your bookmaker. Why don't you lay off the ponies, Lew?" Clessa asked.
"Don't argue. Call a taxl and asked.

"Don't argue. Call a taxi and we'll scram. I'm in a hurry."

CLESSA held him firmly by the arm. "I said we'd walk, and we'll walk," she said. "Relax, I want to talk to you, and I never get a chance at the shop. It's a mad house these fays."

Lew capitulated, and they brolled toward Madison average.

That question suggests that Cato felt that the priests of the Roman Republic were frauds. They carried out special tests to foretell the future, but they made mistakes at times.

**DESPITE THAT, there was a deep-rooted belief in the magic of the priests of ancient Roma. These men would sacrifice animals on altars, and then would study "the signs." Sometimes they obtained signs from living animals, especially from birds in flight, or from a flock of chickens kept at Rome.

The chickens were supposed to be holy. When a Roman army was about to set out on a campaign, the general might ask the priests to study the signs. Then the chickens were watched, to see how they held their heads while drinking water or cating food. Most persons might suppose that
